In association with the ACM

The Consortium for Computing Sciences in Colleges Northeast Region (CCSCNE) brings together faculty, staff, and students from academic institutions throughout the northeast to exchange ideas and information concerning undergraduate computing curricula.

The 24th annual CCSCNE conference will be held at the University of New Haven on April 12 and 13, 2019. We invite proposals for papers, panels, tutorials, workshops, lightning talks, and faculty, graduate and undergraduate student posters. The proceedings of the conference are published as an issue of the Journal of Computing Sciences in Colleges and indexed in the ACM Digital Library. Undergraduate student poster abstracts are published only in the conference program.

Submission guidelines: <http://ccscne.org/participate/>

We also invite faculty members to serve as volunteer reviewers.
